

MechoShade Systems at the 2010 Healthcare Design Expo

Shining a light on health care

The Healthcare Design show in Las Vegas in November was a rousing success, with crowds of attendees visiting our booth to see how our products contribute to patient health.

Promoting a healthy environment

Studies have long shown that giving patients control over their environment and views to the outside helps foster better outcomes—and that's where our award-winning products come in. We showcased our new, ultra-quiet WhisperShade® IQ® System with our Bed-Interface Unit™, a simple one-button shade control that integrates with pillow-speaker devices and lets patients operate their shades.

Also on display was our EcoVeil® Naturals shade cloth series, made of Cradle to Cradle Certified™ materials, which won Best of NeoCon in the health-care textiles category. From patient rooms to waiting rooms, from operating rooms to recovery rooms, we showed why we are the shade of choice by architects and designers serving the health-care community.
